

Section I: Foundations and Methods (2 parts – Answer both questions)

1. Identify the following: (a) the purpose of the research; (b) the research design; (c) the data collection method; (d) the data analysis method; (e) the ethical considerations.

- (1) Z
- (2) A
- (3) L
- (4) M
- (5) C
- (6) N

See THREE files. For each (1) define the term; (2) explain its importance; (3) discuss its application. Use the following examples as a guide: (a) the research design; (b) the data collection method; (c) the data analysis method; (d) the ethical considerations.

Part (a) of the above question is to be answered in a separate sheet of paper. Part (b) is to be answered in this sheet.

2. Write a short note on each of the following: (a) the research design; (b) the data collection method; (c) the data analysis method; (d) the ethical considerations. (e.g., Web, e-b, etc.)

Use the following as a guide: (a) the research design; (b) the data collection method; (c) the data analysis method; (d) the ethical considerations.

For each of the following, (1) define the term; (2) explain its importance; (3) discuss its application. Use the following examples as a guide: (a) the research design; (b) the data collection method; (c) the data analysis method; (d) the ethical considerations. Refer to the following for more information: (a) the research design; (b) the data collection method; (c) the data analysis method; (d) the ethical considerations.

Section IV: Grammar (2 parts – answer both questions)

1. Verb can be used to describe an action, a state, or a feeling. The action can be done by a person or a thing. The state can be a condition or a feeling. The feeling can be a state of mind or a state of body. The feeling can be a state of mind or a state of body.
The feeling can be a state of mind or a state of body.

